

GILMANTON HIGH SCHOOL

Alumni Spotlight

Graduate: Cheyenne Gray Steiner
Class of 2010

After High School: UW-Stout, Bachelor of Science: Psychology; UW-Stout Master of Science in Education: School Psychology; UW-Stout Education Specialist: School Psychology; UW-Eau Claire: Director of Special Education and Pupil Services

Career Information:

After I graduated I worked as a school psychologist for CESA 10. Following that I spent two years working in the Independence School District where I was also the head track and field coach. At the beginning of the 2018-19 school year I made a move to the Mondovi School District where I am the School Psychologist and Director of Special Education.

Other Areas of Accomplishment: After a successful high school track career I went on to run for UW-Stout where I was able to break a few records and qualify for the NCAA national championships. I currently still hold the 100 meter hurdle record for UW-Stout.

Advice to Current Students:

“ I would encourage all students to get involved in something at school and even try some sports or groups you may not think you'd enjoy.

You may be surprised and, if nothing else, find yourself in good company! ”

Strengths of Gilmanton High School: I loved the small class sizes, not only because of the low student to teacher ratio, but also because you knew everyone.

Fond Memories: I have many great memories from my time at GHS. Many of those are related to athletics; however, I think what I really cherish was the time spent with my teammates and coaches - that's what made sports so fun.

Current Information:

I currently live in Mondovi, and am married to my high school sweetheart and another Gilmanton alum, Dylan Steiner.

We have a one-year old daughter named Hattie and another child on the way.
